

Peter Antony posted on Michael de Jong's timeline

Peter Antony

11 December at 16:53

Well Michael, you've done it again! Your new album "Something For The Pain" hits the spot...hard. It's a personal spot that everyone will have. This is as your albums previously, a waving finger of warning in the face. Message is loud and clear. While the story teller is well versed in the subjects covered. This message is delivered from the heart via blood on the strings! The message says you better listen and you better listen good! Expect to hear tracks from it on my Radio Caroline show on Saturday morning, and "Count My Blessings" Is already touring the world on my syndicated radio show Q-Burn this week. Well done Michael and a Happy Christmas my friend! PA.

Like

Comment

Share